Rhodes says Ford may veto tax cut bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican leader of the House, after talking with President Ford, predicts that Ford will veto the $24.8-billion, tax cut package and indicates that the President is reconsidering the whole idea of a tax cut.

The leader, Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., made his prediction late Wednesday after Congress approved one of the largest tax cuts in U.S. history. The package was designed to fight the recession by giving taxpayers more money.

Rebate checks for 1974 taxes would begin arriving 45 days after the bill was signed into law and reduced payroll withholding to reflect 1975 tax cuts would begin May 1.

The House approved the bill 287 to 125 and the Senate followed shortly before midnight EDT with a 45-16 vote to send it on to the White House. Congress then began a 10-ay Easter recess, a fact that contributed to the fairly light attendance in the Senate.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said earlier that Ford would make no decision for at least several days on whether to veto the bill. Another White House spokesman said today the President did not expect to take any action on the the tax bill today.

The spokesman said the President received a copy of the bill late Wednesday night with several hand written comments in the margins and that he was awaiting a full clean copy of the bill sometime today.

However, after talking with Ford late Wednesday, Rhodes predicted a veto and said: "I imagine the President is reconsidering not only any tax cut bill but the whole idea of a tax cut in this frame of the economy."

It was not immediately clear what Rhodes meant by "this frame of the economy." Democrats warned Ford that a veto would be a mistake.

Ford and administration officials have said congressional tax cut proposals are too large and thus might fuel inflation. And they have opposed provisions which repeal of part of the oil depletion allowance.

The final $24.8-billion bill hammered out earlier Wednesday by a House-Senate conference committee, is substantially higher than the $16.2-billion plan put forth by Ford. The final package represents a compromise between a $34.3-billion Senate proposal and a $19.8-billion House plan.

The bill sent to the White House includes the following:

—Rebates on 1974 taxes averaging 10 per cent up to a maximum of $200.

—A $30 credit on 1975 taxes for every taxpayer and each member of his family.

—A $50 one-time payment for every Social Security recipient, and certain other pensioners and welfare recipients.

—Credit, up to $2,000, on 1975 taxes of five per cent of the purchase price of a home not previously occupied. The new home must be the buyer's principal residence; purchased between March 12 and next Jan. 1; occupied by Jan. 1, 1977, and one on which construction began or was completed by March 26.

Miner board submits $1.1 million application

The Miner Board of Trustees submitted a preliminary application today to the Economic Development Agency for a $1.1 million grant to construct a sewer system and make water system improvements.

The board explained and submitted its application to Forrest Kock, regional representative from the EDA's St. Louis office, during a morning meeting at the Ramada Inn.

Hanging in the balance are three industries which say they want to locate in a 60-acre industrial park being developed east of the town, but cannot until water and sewer lines are extended into the area.

The industrial park is being developed by R.D. Clayton of Sikeston according to Miner Mayor L.F. Wheeler. As soon as water and sewer lines can be extended to the park which is east of Presley Travel Traier Sales and service on Highway 62, the park will be annexed, Wheeler said.

In addition to the park, annexation plans include an area containing the homes of about 700 people,which would double the population of the town.

In order to obtain the grant, Kock told the board and representatives from the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission that the town must show a connection between the industrial park, jobs and the water and sewer lines. To receive 100 percent funding he said, the town must show it has no money and no way to get any funds.

Because money is limited, it won't be easy to convice the EDA regional office in Denver that they should fund the project, he said.

The grant application breaks down into four categories $412,000 for the sewer collection system, $202,000 for the treatment plant, $363,000 for lift stations and force mains and $202,000 for water systems improvements, including new lines and doubling the capacity of the treatment plant.

Wheeler said the town's water system is operating at full capacity. When it was installed five years ago, it was expected to reach its capacity in 15 years, he said.

Since the sytem, was installed, 28 new businesses have located in the town and more are on the way, Wheeler added.

Rhodes says Ford may veto tax cut bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican leader of the House, after talking with President Ford, predicts that Ford will veto the $24.8-billion, tax cut package and indicates that the President is reconsidering the whole idea of a tax cut.

The leader, Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., made his prediction late Wednesday after Congress approved one of the largest tax cuts in U.S. history. The package was designed to fight the recession by giving taxpayers more money.

The bill sent to the White House includes the following:

—Rebates on 1974 taxes averaging 10 per cent up to a maximum of $200.

—A $30 credit on 1975 taxes for every taxpayer and each member of his family.

EASTER SUNDAY

It is time to color those Easter eggs again. The new Spring season will usher in Easter Sunday on March 30th this year. Once again, Christians will commemorate the resurrection of Christ. In the muted festival atmosphere, Easter parades and Easter bonnets will lend their enchantment to the occasion. In all but the frigid regions, nature will also add her magic touch of springtime flowers and fair breezes.

The freshness and fragrance of the new season somehow symbolize the bright hope and faith that came into being with the birth of Christianity. Oddly, or perhaps not so oddly, the sounds of Spring on Easter Sunday are accentuated. The birds sing a little more pleasantly -- or so it seems. And in between those March showers, the sun has a special warmth. What it all adds up to is that Easter is an exceptionally good day which is meant to celebrate the coming of new hope and salvation to all mankind. Let it be so this year.

SCHLESINGER ANSWERS

THE CRITICS

In his most recent annual report to the Congress and people on the nation's state of military preparedness, Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger took note of some of the popular arguments for reducing our overseas commitments: "There are recurring pressures," he said, "for withdrawals on grounds that we are overcommitted, are discouraging our allies from carrying their fair share of the collective burden, are incurring excessive balance-of-payments deficits, are risking becoming involved in unwanted wars, and in any event hav been playing the leadership role too long."

Schlesinger replied thusly:

"These are understandable and popular arguments, but they miss the point of what we are trying to do. We are attempting to create a genuine system of collective security, balance and deterrence — not the hollow shell of such a system. As this Report emphasizes, we have explicit strategic reasons for our deployments: they accord with our interests and commitments, and they complement the forces of our Allies ... As matters now stand, our baseline overseas posture is at the minimum that our commitments, our strategy, and our position as one of the two superpowers requires. To reuce it to any measurable degree in the absence of reciprocal action by the other side either calls for greater faith in the good will of other nations than we have experienced in the past, or requires a much more restrictive definition of the U.S. role in the world than the one to which we now adhere.

"If our relations with former adversaries continue to improve, perhaps we can begin to plan our forces and their deployments on some basis other than opposing capabilities. But that time has not yet arrived. Our posture, in prudence, should continue to be based on the objective realities of what competitive postures contain. If and when these realities change, our posture should change as well. Meanwhile, we should entertain a certain skepticism toward those in whom persuasion and belief have ripened into faith, and faith has become a passionate intuition."

Secretary Schlesinger, we believe, is one of the giants in a current U.S. government where men of his intellectual depth and historical perspective are not greatly in evidence. We are glad to see him define our role in the world as he does. The man is plainly not a fool, and this offers us some encouragement.

HOW COME I'VE GOT THIS DOLLAR LEFT?

I Think I'm in big trouble.

I was going through my pockets today and I found something I can't explain.

A dollar.

Yes, a whole dollar.

I've paid my income tax, and my Sate tax. I've paid amusement tax, sales tax, hospital tax and gasoline tax.

I've paid the liquor tax, the cigarette tax, the automobile tax, the school tax and the tax to put up a bridge at the other end of the county.

When I pay my lawyer 600 bucks, I pay tax on that and so does he. I pay tax on the money I give to the baby-sitter and the real estate salesman and the man who makes out my income tax form each year.

So how come I've still got a dollar?

OBVIOUSLY I've made a mistake somewhere and overlooked a tax.

But I distinctly remember paying my road tax, the excise tax, the defense tax and the tax to provide more scholarships for kids to go to the university so they can tell me how rotten the system is.

I've paid my taxes for sewers, bombs, wheat for India, the senate, hocky rinks and public transportation.

Yes, I've paid my water tax.

And when they charge us an air tax to clean up the pollution, I'll pay that, too.

I confess I haven't paid my death taxes yet.

But I will.

I've paid my taxes for parks, fire protection, law enforcement, I've paid my taxes to help the farmer, the Indian and the unmarried mother.

I wouldn't dream of going fishing, owning a dog or getting married without first paying the tax.

I pay taxes on the toothpaste I use when I get up in the morning and I pay taxes on the pillow I rest my head on when the day is over.

HOW COME I've got this dollar in my pocket? Where did it come from? Did somebody put it there to get me in trouble? Is there a tax when you find a dollar like that?

I'm not sure.

But I know the government is going to be sore when they find out I've got it.

A WORTHY IDEAL

George Washington was recently named to the new Hall of Fame of Business Leadership sponsored by Junior Acheivement and Fortune Magazine.

Washington may not typify a business tycoon. But he was an important figure in the economic world of the colonies as the owner and manager of a self- sustaining plantation employing scores of people and manufacturing countless items.

What Washington is honored for- both his birthday and in the business Hall of Fame - are his personal qualities. These are the very qualities that have helped businessmen develop the United States into the economic envy of the world..

Integrity, initiative, a deep sense of responsibility, compassion and understanding, a lack of pettiness, patience, respect for others, love of his fellow man, humility, faith - this is the stuff Washington was made of.

One quality George Washington did not have was to let the other fellow do his work.. And today we can't afford to "Let George do it" either, for the nation's continued progress depends on everyone contributiong his full share.

DON'T UNDER ESTIMATE

VOLUNTARY CONSERVATION

Last winter's gasoline shortage was "all or mostly phony" - a contrivance of the oil companies rather than the Arabs - according to families surveyed in the Detroit area last spring by the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations.

Yet - paradoxically - the same people who doubted the authenticity of the energy crisis, and thus might have been expected to ignore it, actually undertook conservation measures.

For example, more than four out of five said they turned out lights or lowered thermostats; t wo out of three reported using their cars less for pleasure. Nearly half reduced the use of electrical appliances, and about one in four cancelled a planned trip or vacation.

Overall, the families interviewed took an average of four actions to save energy, with 40 per cent taking five or more. Only two per cent said they made no effort, reports Donald I. Warren, senior research scientist at the institute, a joint project of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Because of these findings, Warren disagrees with the federal government's assertion that voluntary conservation hasn't worked. It is just the opposite, and all the more amazing in view of the high degree of alienation and distrust people felt toward the government during this period.

He proposes that the government allocate funds that may be transmitted as rate adjustments or rebates to individuals or communities that significantly lower their energy consumption. I Incentives such as these, which were practiced during World War II, could certainly be reinstated, he says.

"In any case," he urges, "we must do all we can to encourage a nationwide program of voluntary conservation. And we must devise a way of linking conservation with tangible benefits instead of punishment."

FARMERS ARE WORRIED

Farmers in several important corn states, including Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois, are growing worried about the price of their main product. They are trying to mobilize farmers into an agreement to reduce acreage planted to corn this year.

Although corn production fell off drastically last year because of bad weather,the price of corn has sagged since harvest time. The sharp reduction in cattle feeding and weaker export demand for corn, due to the worldwide recession, have brought prices down. This alarms the corn producer, quite understandably.

The cost of producing corn has increased enormously in the last year, and there are no indications cost factors will come down this year. Fertilizer, insecticide, herbicide, power, labor — everything will be higher. Many capable farmers think they can barely make a profit at present prices of around $2.50 a bushel in central Iowa. They fear that a big harvest in 1975 would send prices below $2. (In October, corn was well above $3.)

The concern of farmers about future prices is warranted. The odds favor a big crop this year. If the weather is normal, and if planted acreage increases as expected, a crop of 6.5 billion bushels or more could be harvested. This would be about a billion bushels more than ever harvested before. The record is 5.6 billion in 1973, and the 1974 crop was 4.6 billion.

A billion-bushel increase in output would send prices down far below the cost of production. So farmers are trying to get together to cut acreage. It is obvious that the government will not activate the feed grain program and call for an acreage reduction.

We can thoroughly understand the fears of farmers and their purpose in reducing production. But it is a hopeless task to try to get the job done that way. Not enough farmers would cooperate to make the plan work. It would be impossible to get even a semblance of equality in acreage reduction.

To the extent that it did work, the plan would benefit most those farmers who did not cooperate. Under the federal program, every farmer who cuts acreage at least gets a payment for doing it. Attempts at voluntary production control by producers of a crop grown nationwide, such as corn or wheat, have always failed. The only possible way to get supply management in these crops is through government.

But is it wise to cut corn production this year, by whatever means? We think not. The world's granaries are nearly empty. Instead of trying to reduce output, every means ought to be taken to increase it. Let us get the 6.5-billion-bushel crop of corn if possible.

But it is unfair to ask the farmer to take the whole risk. The present corn loan and present level of "target" prices under the feed grain program are ridiculously low. The target price of $1.38 a bushel is far below the level that would provide assurance against risk for a farmer.

Therefore, we suggest hat Congress substantially raise the corn loan from the present $1.10 to about $2 a bushel. The target price could be about the same or perhaps a little higher. These guarantees would give the producer confidence that a further severe break in corn prices would not be ruinous.

COMPLETING TGE CIRCLE

Since inflation has made the price of groceries the housewife's number-one worry, no one pursues customer favor harder than the manager of the local supermarket. Sometimes when competition is too stiff, actions are taken which are not really in the long-run best interests of either the food retailing industry or the consumers who depend on it. Major food chains are running at a loss or at profit levels oftentimes lower than at any point in their history--a fraction of a penny per dollar of sales. Such tactics as price wars, discounting and keeping stores open 24 hours a day to attract customers have about reached the limit.

As an industry publication, the Montana Food Distributor, points out, all this adds" up to something that will boomerang on both the food distributors and the consumer. Under our present system of a free economy, no business can operate for long without a profit." The publication suggests that food retailers will have to find someway to attract customers and sell their often perishable products without giving all their profits away. It is pointed out that trading stamps are likely to provide part of the answer because," whether they want to admit it or not, the lady who pushes the cart likes stamps, coupons and gimmicks." For example, a panel of Montana housewives unanimously endorsed the use of trading stamps as their favorite promotion.

And so the story of competition in the food business is beginning to come full circle. Those little pieces of paper that you can save to get something you have always wanted but didn't feel you could afford are likely to become, once again, the hottest sales promotion item in many local supermarkets. This will be good news, indeed, if it means the end of an era of what has become destructive competiton which, if long continued, could threaten the ability of major segments of the food distribution industry to continue to deliver the world's greatest variety, volume and quality of food at the lowest possible price to the American people.

Howard Hughes and the CIA
by Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON--Minderman knocked on the door at 11 o'clock at night.

"I had to talk to you," he apologized. "Something has been driving me nuts."

"What is it, Mindeman?"

"It's about the Russian submarine the CIA tried to raise from the Pacific Ocean."

Minderman tends to be slightly paranoid, but since most of his paranoia in the past has turned out to be true I have to take him seriously.

"Well, he said, "it turns out that according to all the stories the CIA was using Howard Hughes as a cover for their operations."

"That's only reasonable," I said. "Howard Hughes is a perfect front for the CIA."

"Okay," said Minderman nervously. "But suppose it's just the opposite. Suppose the CIA is really a cover for Howard Hughes. Suppose Howard Hughes owns the CIA?"

I whistled. "Wow, I never thought of that. That would make a lot more sense than what is going on right now. But why would Howard Hughes want to raise a Russian submarine?"

"He didn't want to raise a Russian submarine. He just had that story leaked to hide the real reason why he built a $350 million boat. What he really wanted the ship for was to search for rare minerals on the ocean floor."

"But that is what they announced when they first launched the ship," I said.

"Aha," siad Minderman, "that is how clever Howard Hughes really is. He announced he built the boat to search for high-grade ore. Everyone pooh-poohed it, which is what he was counting on. They all assumed the real reason he invested all that money was to raise an M-68 Russian submarine which is what Howard wanted them to think in the first place."

"I believe I'm just about to lose you, Minderman," I said.

"Even the Soviets were taken in by it. They assumed from the start that Howard was ater their code machine and atomic missiles. In the meantime, Hughes was raking in all kinds of minerals off the ocean flor."

"But the Soviets aren't stupid. Surely they new that if we let the story out about raising the sub they would have to figure something else was going on."

"It was a desperation move on the part of Howard. He probably called up Colby and chewed him out, and told him to go to all the newspaper offices and warn everyone if they printed the sub story national security would be endangered. Howard was certain Jack Anderson would break it."

"Which he did," I said. "But do you have anything more concrete to support your belief that the CIA is really a front for Howard Hughes?"

"It figures," Minderman said. "The CIA is supposed to be the Secret Service in this country and it is always in the news. No matter where you go in Washington you run into Bill Colby. How many people ever run into Howard Hughes? Believe me, if the records are ever opened they'll find the CIA is part of the Hughes Holding Co., which owns half of Las Vegas."

"This certainly puts a new light on things."

"I'm ony telling you all this," Minderman said, "in case anything happens to me. The CIA is going to be pretty mad when they discover I know they work for Howard Hughes. Look what they did to Clifford Irving."

"Do you think Irving knew Howard owned the CIA?"

"Of course he knew. Why else did they send him to jail?"

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Bentsen's Road to Presidency Is First-Class All the Way

By JACK ANDERSON
with
Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the savvy Texan who is now trying on Lyndon Johnson's boots for the 1976 presidential campaign, made headlines last month with an attack upon Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

"Running the State Department," declared Bentsen, "is a full-time job for any man -- even a superman -- and it can't be done from a jet circling over a Middle East airport."

The suave Bentsen had nothing but praise for Kissinger in 1973, however, when the State Department was escorting him around the exotic ports of the South Pacific. We have now obtained the cables, intended for official eyes only, that his escorts sent back to the State Department.

From Sydney, the U.S. consulate reported: "Senator Bentsen commented on way to airport he felt Dr. Kissinger's appointment as SecState was good for the Congres, the White House and the Foreign Service."

The cable quoted Bentsen as saying "Kissinger had been dictating foreign policy anyhow, and it would give Congress more feeling of confidence in White House policy and give the Foreign Service the leadership it needed."

A spokesman for the senator said the cable was "not exactly" accurate. Bentsen had emphasized then too, said the spokesman, that Kissinger was running the State Department without congressional input.

The South Pacific trip took Bentsen and his wife from Bali and Tahiti to Hong Kong and Singapore. Although it was booked through a private travel agency in Houston and included only for days of official business during the four-week odyssey, the taxpayers were stuck with his air fare to Australia -- $1,096.10 -- and his hotel charges in Sydney and Canberra -- $179.32.

The senator met with government leaders in Australia but didn't overwork himself. "The Bentsens spent the day in sightseeing and recreation," according to the cable from Sydney, "declining the planned meetings with American Chamber of Commerce and State Partliament leaders."

The State Department alerted its diplomats all along the Bentsens' travel route to roll out the red carpet.

From Jakarta, U.S. Ambassador Francis Galbraith wired the senator: "Delighted to hear you and Mrs. Bentsen will be spending a few days in Bali and then passing through Jakarta. I will plan to have a brief letter awaiting arrival at Bali Beach Hotel suggeting some of many things you will not want to miss while in Bali."

Footnote: For their stay in Tahiti, Bentsen requested Bungalow 13 at the Bora-Bora hotel. Explained the senator's spokesman: "Bentsen just smiled and said, 'An old friend had recommended that to me.' "

NEGLECTED VETERANS: In an earlier column, we reported that "doctors are resigning, equipment failing and facilities deteriorating" in the nation's veterans hospitals.

Our report has been followed by a mail storm of complaints, charging that conditions are worse than we described.

Letters from doctors, dentists, neurologists, pathologists, psychiatrists, hospital directors and other hospital personnel confirm our allegation that veterans are getting inadequate health treatment.

Competent physicians are leaving veterans hospitals by the hundreds, according to the letters, because of the low pay scale. This has left the veterans all too often in the care of misfit doctors -- residents who haven't completed their training, elderly physicians who can't pull a full load, medics without board certification and immigrant doctors mostly trained in Asia.

Here are a few highlights from the letters:

A staff physician in a California veterans hospital: "The hospital, both medical and paramedical, is grossly understaffed. The situation is turning from bad to worse. The VA is so poorly funded, the system so bad and the patient load so far outnumbers the medical personnel that the quality of medical care is severely compromised."

A doctor in a North Carolina veterans hospital: "At no time have I seen the morale of our medical staff at a lower ebb. We simply cannot recruit physicians, and we cannot keep those we have."

A 10-year VA physician: "If you were to tour our VA hospitals, you would find that many important positions are staffed by either elderly, semi-retired doctors or by physicians trained in foreign countries. Both categories include many doctors who are here simply because they cannot earn an income elsewhere."

A hospital director in Wyoming: "(Most applicants) cannot speak English well enough to communicate with me, much less a mentally disturbed veteran. (The applicant) may have had a stroke, or a coronary or just fear one and want to go into semi-retirement; he may have previously lost a license; or, in some other way, be borderline. I think the situation is desperate."

Speaking for the Veterans Administration, Dr. John Chase, the chief medical director, agreed that the situation, indeed, is becoming a "crisis."

Spies and Scotch: How Soviets Use Trading Fronts To Cropple America's Economy

NEW YORK - Just the other day a 37-year-old Russian "engineer" Victor Maximov got drunk, stole a cab, went for a joy ride, was caught by the regular genearmerie in this town, got fined -- and suddenly the judge was informed that Comrade Maximov is a suspected KGB agent, who works for the Soviet trading company, Amtorg, which has been a Moscow espionage cover before.

Well, Maximov decided to return to his socialist father and. They're letting him go though he apparently has no diplomatic status.

Thus the Russians use their trading covers as intelligence centers. But it isn't always as romantic. Often the Soviets use their trading posts to cut us down in less spectacular fashion. And far more effectively.

All of which, for example, brings us to the subject of Scotch whisky, a lot of which must come out of the hatch of big cargo carriers before it goes "down the hatch." The Soviet shipping (state owed) trust is now trying to corner the market on freighting Scotch over to the U. S. from the United Kingdom.

And they're well on their way. They simply have undercut American and other nationals' shipping rates which are set by a shipping rate conference.

First it should be explained that there are some 50 such "rate conferences." These are groupings of international ship owners. They set rates, so they don't destroy each other, for specific routes -- West and East to and from Europe in the North Atlantic, or from our East Coast to Asia or into the Mediterranean.

The Soviet shipping trust doesn't belong to these rate conferences. So they set their own "tariffs" (rates) simply by giving our own Federal Maritime Commission 30 days notice and slash away at the competition. This Soviet practice is killing off our merchant mariine and that of many other nations.

Thus on March 20 it became legal for the Soviet shipping "company" Balt-Atlantic to carry Scotch whisky (amulti- million-dollar freight business) into New York at a rate well under that of the members of the "rate conferences." It may chill the gourmets to learn that Scotch sometimes is carried across the North Atlantic in tanks (containers). The Russian Balt-Atlantic will haul it over at 100 a ton compared with the rate conference's $110.

On a case basis, the Soviet cargo fleet will carry the whisky at $45 a ton compared with the rate conference's fixed tariff of $45.50 a ton.

Since the Russians really have no cost system as we do, they absorb their losses easily. Further, the Balt-Atlantic freighters rarely, if ever, go home to the U.S.S.R. They simply shuttle to and from Eruope and the U. S. The crews are changed from time to time.

It is the same in the Pacific. There the Soviets run the Far East Shipping Co. (FESCO). Its freighters run as a shuttle between our Wests Coast ports and the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, Malaysia, Hong Kong, etc. And they slash the bottom out of us on rates. FESCO vessels rarely (some say never) berth back in the Soviet Union.

Since the Russians are now permitted to put into 40 American ports, their business is booming. Ours is dropping. We're laying up freighters and tankers, and laying off American shipbuilding workers. Over the longrun, the Russians will gobble up a massive amount of the world maritme trade. If push comes to shove someday, we'll have no fleet on which to load armaments, no passenger ships on which to transport troops.

So, just as the Soviets pledged they'd not interfere in the U.S., nor spy on us, and have broken their pledges many times since detente, they did promise not to undercut our merchant fleet rates or injure our commerce.

The Soviets flatly pledged this to Dick Nixon and Henry Kissinger. In turn this word was passed on to a gathering of maritime union leaders back in 1972. The man who was authorized to forward this Communist pledge was Andrew Gibson who then was Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Maritime Affairs.

Why did the Soviets promise not to undercut our merchant fleet? They never, but never give anything away. They wanted heavy grain shipments, that's whhy. To get this wheat, the Russians had to satisfy American longshoremen or the grain wouldn't have been loaded.

So none other than Soviet Communist Party Secretary General Brezhnev gave his work to the ex-President, and it went down the pipleine to Gibson, who flew up to Cherry Hill, N. J., and said he was empowered to pass on the Communist pledge. So the American union chiefs agreed to move the wheat.

Now the Russians have that vital grain, and are still getting more. Why keep a pledge? And thus do they deal with any who trust them..

SCHLESINGER ANSWERS

THE CRITICS

In his most recent annual report to the Congress and people on the nation's state of military preparedness, Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger took note of some of the popular arguments for reducing our overseas commitments: "There are recurring pressures," he said, "for withdrawals on grounds that we are overcommitted, are discouraging our allies from carrying their fair share of the collective burden, are incurring excessive balance-of-payments deficits, are risking becoming involved in unwanted wars, and in any event hav been playing the leadership role too long."

Schlesinger replied thusly:

"These are understandable and popular arguments, but they miss the point of what we are trying to do. We are attempting to create a genuine system of collective security, balance and deterrence — not the hollow shell of such a system. As this Report emphasizes, we have explicit strategic reasons for our deployments: they accord with our interests and commitments, and they complement the forces of our Allies ... As matters now stand, our baseline overseas posture is at the minimum that our commitments, our strategy, and our position as one of the two superpowers requires. To reuce it to any measurable degree in the absence of reciprocal action by the other side either calls for greater faith in the good will of other nations than we have experienced in the past, or requires a much more restrictive definition of the U.S. role in the world than the one to which we now adhere.

"If our relations with former adversaries continue to improve, perhaps we can begin to plan our forces and their deployments on some basis other than opposing capabilities. But that time has not yet arrived. Our posture, in prudence, should continue to be based on the objective realities of what competitive postures contain. If and when these realities change, our posture should change as well. Meanwhile, we should entertain a certain skepticism toward those in whom persuasion and belief have ripened into faith, and faith has become a passionate intuition."

Secretary Schlesinger, we believe, is one of the giants in a current U.S. government where men of his intellectual depth and historical perspective are not greatly in evidence. We are glad to see him define our role in the world as he does. The man is plainly not a fool, and this offers us some encouragement.

HOW COME I'VE GOT THIS DOLLAR LEFT?

I Think I'm in big trouble.

I was going through my pockets today and I found something I can't explain.

A dollar.

Yes, a whole dollar.

I've paid my income tax, and my Sate tax. I've paid amusement tax, sales tax, hospital tax and gasoline tax.

I've paid the liquor tax, the cigarette tax, the automobile tax, the school tax and the tax to put up a bridge at the other end of the county.

When I pay my lawyer 600 bucks, I pay tax on that and so does he. I pay tax on the money I give to the baby-sitter and the real estate salesman and the man who makes out my income tax form each year.

So how come I've still got a dollar?

OBVIOUSLY I've made a mistake somewhere and overlooked a tax.

But I distinctly remember paying my road tax, the excise tax, the defense tax and the tax to provide more scholarships for kids to go to the university so they can tell me how rotten the system is.

I've paid my taxes for sewers, bombs, wheat for India, the senate, hocky rinks and public transportation.

Yes, I've paid my water tax.

And when they charge us an air tax to clean up the pollution, I'll pay that, too.

I confess I haven't paid my death taxes yet.

But I will.

I've paid my taxes for parks, fire protection, law enforcement, .I've paid my taxes to help the farmer, the Indian and the unmarried mother.

I wouldn't dream of going fishing, owning a dog or getting married without first paying the tax.

I pay taxes on the toothpaste I use when I get up in the morning and I pay taxes on the pillow I rest my head on when the day is over.

HOW COME I've got this dollar in my pocket? Where did it come from? Did somebody put it there to get me in trouble? Is there a tax when you find a 'ollar like that?

I'm not sure.

But I know the government is going to be sore when they find out I've got it.

A WORTHY IDEAL

George Washington was recently named to the new Hall of Fame of Business Leadership sponsored by Junior Acheivement and Fortune Magazine.

Washington may not typify a business tycoon. But he was an important figure in the economic world of the colonies as the owner and manager of a self- sustaining plantation employing scores of people and manufacturing countless items.

What Washington is honored for- both his birthday and in the business Hall of Fame - are his personal qualities. These are the very qualities that have helped businessmen develop the United States into the economic envy of the world..

Integrity, initiative, a deep sense of responsibility, compassion and understanding, a lack of pettiness, patience, respect for others, love of his fellow man, humility, faith - this is the stuff Washington was made of.

One quality George Washington did not have was to let the other fellow do his work.. And today we can't afford to "Let George do it" either, for the nation's continued progress depends on everyone contributiong his full share.

DON'T UNDER ESTIMATE

VOLUNTARY CONSERVATION

Last winter's gasoline shortage was "all or mostly phony" - a contrivance of the oil companies rather than the Arabs - according to families surveyed in the Detroit area last spring by the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations.

Yet - paradoxically - the same people who doubted the authenticity of the energy crisis, and thus might have been expected to ignore it, actually undertook conservation measures.

For example, more than four out of five said they turned out lights or lowered thermostats; t wo out of three reported using their cars less for pleasure. Nearly half reduced the use of electrical appliances, and about one in four cancelled a planned trip or vacation.

Overall, the families interviewed took an average of four actions to save energy, with 40 per cent taking five or more. Only two per cent said they made no effort, reports Donald I. Warren, senior research scientist at the institute, a joint project of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Because of these findings, Warren disagrees with the federal government's assertion that voluntary conservation hasn't worked. It is just the opposite, and all the more amazing in view of the high degree of alienation and distrust people felt toward the government during this period.

He proposes that the government allocate funds that may be transmitted as rate adjustments or rebates to individuals or communities that significantly lower their energy consumption. I Incentives such as these, which were practiced during World War II, could certainly be reinstated, he says.

"In any case," he urges, "we must do all we can to encourage a nationwide program of voluntary conservation. And we must devise a way of linking conservation with tangible benefits instead of punishment."

FARMERS ARE WORRIED

Farmers in several important corn states, including Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois, are growing worried about the price of their main product. They are trying to mobilize farmers into an agreement to reduce acreage planted to corn this year.

Although corn production fell off drastically last year because of bad weather,the price of corn has sagged since harvest time. The sharp reduction in cattle feeding and weaker export demand for corn, due to the worldwide recession, have brought prices down. This alarms the corn producer, quite understandably.

The cost of producing corn has increased enormously in the last year, and there are no indications cost factors will come down this year. Fertilizer, insecticide, herbicide, power, labor — everything will be higher. Many capable farmers think they can barely make a profit at present prices of around $2.50 a bushel in central Iowa. They fear that a big harvest in 1975 would send prices below $2. (In October, corn was well above $3.)

The concern of farmers about future prices is warranted. The odds favor a big crop this year. If the weather is normal, and if planted acreage increases as expected, a crop of 6.5 billion bushels or more could be harvested. This would be about a billion bushels more than ever harvested before. The record is 5.6 billion in 1973, and the 1974 crop was 4.6 billion.

A billion-bushel increase in output would send prices down far below the cost of production. So farmers are trying to get together to cut acreage. It is obvious that the government will not activate the feed grain program and call for an acreage reduction.

We can thoroughly understand the fears of farmers and their purpose in reducing production. But it is a hopeless task to try to get the job done that way. Not enough farmers would cooperate to make the plan work. It would be impossible to get even a semblance of equality in acreage reduction.

To the extent that it did work, the plan would benefit most those farmers who did not cooperate. Under the federal program, every farmer who cuts acreage at least gets a payment for doing it. Attempts at voluntary production control by producers of a crop grown nationwide, such as corn or wheat, have always failed. The only possible way to get supply management in these crops is through government.

But is it wise to cut corn production this year, by whatever means? We think not. The world's granaries are nearly empty. Instead of trying to reduce output, every means ought to be taken to increase it. Let us get the 6.5-billion-bushel crop of corn if possible.

But it is unfair to ask the farmer to take the whole risk. The present corn loan and present level of "target" prices under the feed grain program are ridiculously low. The target price of $1.38 a bushel is far below the level that would provide assurance against risk for a farmer.

Therefore, we suggest hat Congress substantially raise the corn loan from the present $1.10 to about $2 a bushel. The target price could be about the same or perhaps a little higher. These guarantees would give the producer confidence that a further severe break in corn prices would not be ruinous.

CHEMISTS' GROUP TELLS US ABOUT THE FOOD WE EAT

The booklet describes the purposes, benefits and sources of food additives. Sections are included on federal legislation dealing with foods and how these laws, combined with industrial scientific research, protect the consumer, and there is an appendix of selected references.

Single copies of ''Food Additives: What They Are-How They Are Used" are available free from: Consumer Information, Maunfacturing Chemists Association, 1825 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009.

COMPLETING TGE CIRCLE

Since inflation has made the price of groceries the housewife's number-one worry, no one pursues customer favor harder than the manager of the local supermarket. Sometimes when competition is too stiff, actions are taken which are not really in the long-run best interests of either the food retailing industry or the consumers who depend on it. Major food chains are running at a loss or at profit levels oftentimes lower than at any point in their history--a fraction of a penny per dollar of sales. Such tactics as price wars, discounting and keeping stores open 24 hours a day to attract customers have about reached the limit.

As an industry publication, the Montana Food Distributor, points out, all this adds" up to something that will boomerang on both the food distributors and the comsumer. Under our present system of a free economy, no business can operate for long without a profit." The publication suggests that food retailers will have to find someway to attract customers and sell their often perishable products without giving all their profits away. It is pointed out that trading stamps are likely to provide part of the answer because," whether they want to admit it or not, the lady who pushes the cart likes stamps, coupons and gimmicks." For example, a panel of Montana housewives unanimously endorsed the use of trading stamps as their favorite promotion.

And so the story of competition in the food business is beginning to come full circle. Those little pieces of paper that you can save to get something you have always wanted but didn't feel you could afford are likely to become, once again, the hottest sales promotion item in many local supermarkets. This will be good news, indeed, if it means the end of an era of what has become destructive competiton which, if long continued, could threaten the ability of major segments of the food distribution industry to continue to deliver the world's greatest variety, volume and quality of food at the lowest possible price to the American people.

Howard Hughes and the CIA
by Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON--Minderman knocked on the door at 11 o'clock at night.

"I had to talk to you," he apologized. "Something has been driving me nuts."

"What is it, Mindeman?"

"It's about the Russian submarine the CIA tried to raise from the Pacific Ocean."

Minderman tends to be slightly paranoid, but since most of his paranoia in the past has turned out to be true I have to take him seriously.

"Well, he said, "it turns out that according to all the stories the CIA was using Howard Hughes as a cover for their operations."

"That's only reasonable," I said. "Howard Hughes is a perfect front for the CIA."

"Okay," said Minderman nervously. "But suppose it's just the opposite. Suppose the CIA is really a cover for Howard Hughes. Suppose Howard Hughes owns the CIA?"

I whistled. "Wow, I never thought of that. That would make a lot more sense than what is going on right now. But why would Howard Hughes want to raise a Russian submarine?"

"He didn't want to raise a Russian submarine. He just had that story leaked to hide the real reason why he built a $350 million boat. What he really wanted the ship for was to search for rare minerals on the ocean floor."

"But that is what they announced when they first launched the ship," I said.

"Aha," siad Minderman, "that is how clever Howard Hughes really is. He announced he built the boat to search for high-grade ore. Everyone pooh-poohed it, which is what he was counting on. They all assumed the real reason he invested all that money was to raise an M-60 Russian submarine which is what Howard wanted them to think in the first place."

"I believe I'm just about to lose you, Minderman," I said.

"Even the Soviets were taken in by it. They assumed from the start that Howard was ater their c de machine and atomic missiles. In the meantime, Hughes was raking in all kinds of minerals off the ocean flor."

"But the Soviets aren't stupid. Surely they new that if we let the story out about raising the sub they would have to figure something else was going on."

"It was a desperation move on the part of Howard. He probably called up Colby and chewed him out, and told him to go to all the newspaper offices and warn everyone if they printed the sub story national security would be endangered. Howard was certain Jack Anderson would break it."

"Which he did," I said. "But do you have anything more concrete to support your belief that the CIA is really a front for Howard Hughes?"

"It figures," Minderman said. "The CIA is supposed to be the Secret Service in this country and it is always in the news. No matter where you go in Washington you run into Bill Colby. How many people ever run into Howard Hughes? Believe me, if the records are ever opened they'll find the CIA is part of the Hughes Holding Co., which owns half of Las Vegas."

"This certainly puts a new light on things."

"I'm ony telling you all this," Minderman said, "in case anything happens to me. The CIA is going to be pretty mad when they discover I know they work for Howard Hughes. Look what they did to Clifford Irving."

"Do you think Irving knew Howard owned the CIA?"

"Of course he knew. Why else did they send him to jail?"

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Bentsen's Road to Presidency Is First-Class All the Way

By JACK ANDERSON
with
Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the savvy Texan who is now trying on Lyndon Johnson's boots for the 1976 presidential campaign, made headlines last month with an attack upon Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

"Running the State Department," declared Bentsen, "is a full-time job for any man -- even a superman -- and it can't be done from a jet circling over a Middle East airport."

The suave Bentsen had nothing but praise for Kissinger in 1973, however, when the State Department was escorting him around the exotic ports of the South Pacific. We have now obtained the cables, intended for official eyes only, that his escorts sent back to the State Department.

From Sydney, the U.S. consulate reported: "Senator Bentsen commented on way to airport he felt Dr. Kissinger's appointment as SecState was good for the Congres, the White House and the Foreign Service."

The cable quoted Bentsen as saying "Kissinger had been dictating foreign policy anyhow, and it would give Congress more feeling of confidence in White House policy and give the Foreign Service the leadership it needed."

A spokesman for the senator said the cable was "not exactly" accurate. Bentsen had emphasized then too, said the spokesman, that Kissinger was running the State Department without congressional input.

The South Pacific trip took Bentsen and his wife from Bali and Tahiti to Hong Kong and Singapore. Although it was booked through a private travel agency in Houston and included only for days of official business during the four-week odyssey, the taxpayers were stuck with his air fare to Australia -- $1,096.10 -- and his hotel charges in Sydney and Canberra -- $179.32.

The senator met with government leaders in Australia but didn't overwork himself. "The Bentsens spent the day in sightseeing and recreation," according to the cable from Sydney, "declining the planned meetings with American Chamber of Commerce and State Partliament leaders."

The State Department alerted its diplomats all along the Bentsens' travel route to roll out the red carpet.

From Jakarta, U.S. Ambassador Francis Galbraith wired the senator: "Delighted to hear you and Mrs. Bentsen will be spending a few days in Bali and then passing through Jakarta. I will plan to have a brief letter awaiting arrival at Bali Beach Hotel suggeting some of many things you will not want to miss while in Bali."

Footnote: For their stay in Tahiti, Bentsen requested Bungalow 13 at the Bora-Bora hotel. Explained the senator's spokesman: "Bentsen just smiled and said, 'An old friend had recommended that to me.' "

NEGLECTED VETERANS: In an earlier column, we reported that "doctors are resigning, equipment failing and facilities deteriorating" in the nation's veterans hospitals.

Our report has been followed by a mail storm of complaints, charging that conditions are worse than we described.

Letters from doctors, dentists, neurologists, pathologists, psychiatrists, hospital directors and other hospital personnel confirm our allegation that veterans are getting inadequate health treatment.

Competent physicians are leaving veterans hospitals by the hundreds, according to the letters, because of the low pay scale. This has left the veterans all too often in the care of misfit doctors -- residents who haven't completed their training, elderly physicians who can't pull a full load, medics without board certification and immigrant doctors mostly trained in Asia.

Here are a few highlights from the letters:

A staff physician in a California veterans hospital: "The hospital, both medical and paramedical, is grossly understaffed. The situation is turning from bad to worse. The VA is so poorly funded, the system so bad and the patient load so far outnumbers the medical personnel that the quality of medical care is severely compromised."

A doctor in a North Carolina veterans hospital: "At no time have I seen the morale of our medical staff at a lower ebb. We simply cannot recruit physicians, and we cannot keep those we have."

A 10-year VA physician: "If you were to tour our VA hospitals, you would find that many important positions are staffed by either elderly, semi-retired doctors or by physicians trained in foreign countries. Both categories include many doctors who are here simply because they cannot earn an income elsewhere."

A hospital director in Wyoming: "(Most applicants) cannot speak English well enough to communicate with me, much less a mentally disturbed veteran. (The applicant) may have had a stroke, or a coronary or just fear one and want to go into semi-retirement; he may have previously lost a license; or, in some other way, be borderline. I think the situation is desperate."

Speaking for the Veterans Administration, Dr. John Chase, the chief medical director, agreed that the situation, indeed, is becoming a "crisis."

Spies and Scotch: How Soviets Use Trading Fronts To Cropple America's Economy

NEW YORK — Just the other day a 37-year-old Russian "engineer" Victor Maximov got drunk, stole a cab, went for a joy ride, was caught by the regular genearmerie in this town, got fined -- and suddenly the judge was informed that Comrade Maximov is a suspected KGB agent, who works for the Soviet trading company, Amtorg, which has been a Moscow espionage cover before.

Well, Maximov decided to return to his socialist father and. They're letting him go though he apparently has no diplomatic status.

Thus the Russians use their trading covers as intelligence centers. But it isn't always as romantic. Often the Soviets use their trading posts to cut us down in less spectacular fashion. And far more effectively.

All of which, for example, brings us to the subject of Scotch whisky, a lot of which must come out of the hatch of big cargo carriers before it goes "down the hatch." The Soviet shipping (state owed) trust is now trying to corner the market on freighting Scotch over to the U. S. from the United Kingdom.

And they're well on their way. They simply have undercut American and other nationals' shipping rates which are set by a shipping rate conference.

First it should be explained that there are some 50 such "rate conferences." These are groupings of international ship owners. They set rates, so they don't destroy each other, for specific routes -- West and East to and from Europe in the North Atlantic, or from our East Coast to Asia or into the Mediterranean.

The Soviet shipping trust doesn't belong to these rate conferences. So they set their own "tariffs" (rates) simply by giving our own Federal Maritime Commission 30 days notice and slash away at the competition. This Soviet practice is killing off our merchant mariine and that of many other nations.

Thus on March 20 it became legal for the Soviet shipping "company" Balt-Atlantic to carry Scotch whisky (a multi- million-dollar freight business) into New York at a rate well under that of the members of the "rate conferences." It may chill the gourmets to learn that Scotch sometimes is carried across the North Atlantic in tanks (containers). The Russian Balt-Atlantic will haul it over at 100 a ton compared with the rate conference's $110.

On a case basis, the Soviet cargo fleet will carry the whisky at $45 a ton compared with the rate conference's fixed tariff of $45.50 a ton.

Since the Russians really have no cost system as we do, they absorb their losses easily. Further, the Balt-Atlantic freighters rarely, if ever, go home to the U.S.S.R. They simply shuttle to and from Eruope and the U. S. The crews are changed from time to time.

It is the same in the Pacific. There the Soviets run the Far East Shipping Co. (FESCO). Its freighters run as a shuttle between our Wests Coast ports and the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, Malaysia, Hong Kong, etc. And they slash the bottom out of us on rates. FESCO vessels rarely (some say never) berth back in the Soviet Union.

Since the Russians are now permitted to put into 40 American ports, their business is booming. Ours is dropping. We're laying up freighters and tankers, and laying off American shipbuilding workers. Over the longrun, the Russians will gobble up a massive amount of the world maritme trade. If push comes to shove someday, we'll have no fleet on which to load armaments, no passenger ships on which to transport troops.

So, just as the Soviets pledged they'd not interfere in the U. S., nor spy on us, and have broken their pledges many times since detente, they did promise not to undercut our merchant fleet rates or injure our commerce.

The Soviets flatly pledged this to Dick Nixon and Henry Kissinger. In turn this word was passed on to a gathering of maritime union leaders back in 1972. The man who was authorized to forward this Communist pledge was Andrew Gibson who then was Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Maritime Affairs.

Why did the Soviets promise not to undercut our merchant fleet? They never, but never give anything away. They wanted heavy grain shipments, that's whhy To get this wheat, the Russians had to satisfy American longshoremen or the grain wouldn't have been loaded.

So none other than Soviet Communist Party Secretary General Brezhnev gave his work, to the ex-President, and it went down the pipleine to Gibson, who flew up to Cherry Hill, N. J., and said he was empowered to pass on the Communist pledge. So the American union chiefs agreed to move the wheat.

Now the Russians have that vital grain, and are still getting more. Why keep a pledge? And thus do they deal with any who trust them..

Sales tax effective Tuesday

MALDEN — The one-cent city sales tax, approved by Malden voters in December, will go into effect Tuesday. The city sales tax will apply to all items on which the state sales tax is collected. This means that, beginning Tuesday, the total sales tax on a dollar's worth of merchandise sold in Malden will be four cents instead of three cents.

The city sales tax will be collected by the State Department of Revenue. It will be reported by retail merchants on their state sales tax form. The director of revenue is required to deposit all city sales taxes collected in a special City Sales Tax Trust Fund, less two per cent for the cost of collection.

The law provides that, no later than the 10th day of each month, the state treasurer will distribute all monies deposited in the City Sales Tax Trust Fund during the preceding month to the city treasurer.

The amount distributed is determined by a certificate given him by the director of revenue The very earliest that the city of Malden will receive a check is the 10th day of May and it will likely take longer to receive the initial payment.

House okays welfare, school aid, farm bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House approved and sent to the Senate Wednesday bills to boost welfare payments, redistribute state school aid and limit corporate farming.

The measures, which would boost yearly state expenses by nearly $50 million, were okayed by the Democratically-controlled membership shortly after Republican Gov. Christopher S. Bond urged the Democratic caucus earlier in the day to keep the lid on spending.

The welfare boosts are in Aid to Dependent Children payments, where an $8 per month boost in payments for guardians and each child was approved. The increase is expected to cost an additional $11 million.

Bond vetoed an increase last year, but has said he would support a modest increase this year.

"I believe we're just too ambitious for this with the amount of money available," argued Rep. Walt Mueller, R-Kirkwood.

Others opposed the bill because of alleged fraud in the ADC program, but the bill's sponsor, Democrat Russell Goward of St. Louis, noted he also is supporting tougher anti-fraud legislation.

Revision of the school foundation formula, aimed at distributing the more than $300 million in annual state aid more fairly, would cost an estimated $38 million extra, compared to Bond's proposed $15.8 million increase.

The measure would prohibit any school district from receiving less aid per student for the next five years, but after that some richer districts would receive less aid with the difference going to poorer districts.

The corporate farming bill would prohibit corporate involvement in most farming and limit expansion of other such operations already in existence in the state.

Rep. D. R. Osbourn, D-Monroe City, the bill's sponsor, said the measure will protect family farming, which he contended is the most efficient farming operation.

But opponents unsuccessfully argued that the bill would force consumer prices up by limiting more efficient and economical corporate methods.

Sales tax effective Tuesday

MALDEN — The one-cent city sales tax, approved by Malden voters in December, will go into effect Tuesday. The city sales tax will apply to all items on which the state sales tax is collected. This means that, beginning Tuesday, the total sales tax on a dollar's worth of merchandise sold in Malden will be four cents instead of three cents.

The city sales tax will be collected by the State Department of Revenue. It will be reported by retail merchants on their state sales tax form. The director of revenue is required to deposit all city sales taxes collected in a special City Sales Tax Trust Fund, less two per cent for the cost of collection.

The law provides that, no later than the 10th day of each month, the state treasurer will distribute all monies deposited in the City Sales Tax Trust Fund during the preceding month to the city treasurer.

The amount distributed is determined by a certificate given him by the director of revenue The very earliest that the city of Malden will receive a check is the 10th day of May and it will likely take longer to receive the initial payment.

House okays welfare, school aid, farm bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House approved and sent to the Senate Wednesday bills to boost welfare payments, redistribute state school aid and limit corporate farming.

The measures, which would boost yearly state expenses by nearly $50 million, were okayed by the Democratically-controlled membership shortly after Republican Gov. Christopher S. Bond urged the Democratic caucus earlier in the day to keep the lid on spending.

The welfare boosts are in Aid to Dependent Children payments, where an $8 per month boost in payments for guardians and each child was approved. The increase is expected to cost an additional $11 million.

Bond vetoed an increase last year, but has said he would support a modest increase this year.

"I believe we're just too ambitious for this with the amount of money available," argued Rep. Walt Mueller, R-Kirkwood.

Others opposed the bill because of alleged fraud in the ADC program, but the bill's sponsor, Democrat Russell Goward of St. Louis, noted he also is supporting tougher anti-fraud legislation.

Revision of the school foundation formula, aimed at distributing the more than $300 million in annual state aid more fairly, would cost an estimated $38 million extra, compared to Bond's proposed $15.8 million increase.

The measure would prohibit any school district from receiving less aid per student for the next five years, but after that some richer districts would receive less aid with the difference going to poorer districts.

The corporate farming bill would prohibit corporate involvement in most farming and limit expansion of other such operations already in existence in the state.

Rep. D. R. Osbourn, D-Monroe City, the bill's sponsor, said the measure will protect family farming, which he contended is the most efficient farming operation.

But opponents unsuccessfully argued that the bill would force consumer prices up by limiting more efficient and economical corporate methods.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PATRONS OF NEW MADRID COUNTY R1 ENLARGED SCHOOL DISTRICT

When initial steps were taken for the reorganization of the school districts of Matthews, Lilbourn, Portageville, New Madrid, and Parma the people were led to believe that each school district would have representation on the new school board and that COUNTY POLITICIANS would stay out of school business.

Following the vote of the citizens for reoganization, this was more or less done, but now for the first time, POWER POLITICS looms its ugly head. As your Parma representative, I am being challenged by forces from outside the community as most of the Parma patrons have expressed satisfaction with their representative.

I have promised to represent not only my own community but that of the entire district, and at a recent meeting held at Matthews by concerned citizens, they expressed their fear of too much centralization and their lack of communication with school board. I promised them that when re-elected I would see that regular news letters would be issued to the school patrons and information from school board meetings would be published. It was suggested and I approve that the school board should meet periodically with the people of the various school units and that the board should inspect the school plants for needed improvement and repairs at regular intervals.

I am a 15 year resident of the Parma community and have five children, two who have graduated from the Parma High School two who are now enrolled in the Parma unit and one preschooler. It is easy to see that my interest has been and will continue to be in the quality of our schools.

If elected, I will have an attentive ear and will take time to listen to the problems of not only my community but of all the communities in the district. I will serve all the people of the New Madrid County R-1 Enlarged School District to the best of my ability.

I believe that I have the ability and experience plus the desire to do everything in my power for the best interests of all the people for the best education possible for our children.

Your continued vote and support is respectfully requested at the election Tuesday April 1

Sincerely,
Hoyt Butler

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PATRONS OF NEW MADRID COUNTY R1 ENLARGED SCHOOL DISTRICT

When initial steps were taken for the reorganization of the school districts of Matthews, Lilbourn, Portageville, New Madrid, and Parma the people were led to believe that each school district would have representation on the new school board and that COUNTY POLITICIANS would stay out of school business.

Following the vote of the citizens for reoganization, this was more or less done, but now for the first time, POWER POLITICS looms its ugly head. As your Parma representative, I am being challenged by forces from outside the community as most of the Parma patrons have expressed satisfaction with their representative.

I have promised to represent not only my own community but that of the entire district, and at a recent meeting held at Matthews by concerned citizens, they expressed their fear of too much centralization and their lack of communication with school board. I promised them that when re-elected I would see that regular news letters would be issued to the school patrons and information from school board meetings would be published. It was suggested and I approve that the school board should meet periodically with the people of the various school units and that the board should inspect the school plants for needed improvement and repairs at regular intervals.

I am a 15 year resident of the Parma community and have five children, two who have graduated from the Parma High School two who are now enrolled in the Parma unit and one preschooler. It is easy to see that my interest has been and will continue to be in the quality of our schools.

If elected, I will have an attentive ear and will take time to listen to the problems of not only my community but of all the communities in the district. I will serve all the people of the New Madrid County R-1 Enlarged School District to the best of my ability.

I believe that I have the ability and experience plus the desire to do everything in my power for the best interests of all the people for the best education possible for our children.

Your continued vote and support is respectfully requested at the election Tuesday April 1

Sincerely,
Hoyt Butler

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Dr. and Mrs. J.C. Willke, internationally known authors, lecturers, and experts on human sexuality, will be in Cape Girardeau to present a program at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

The free lecture is sponsored by the Cape Girardeau Chapter of Birthright, Inc.

The Willkes' will speak to students and teachers at Central High School in Cape from 9:30 to 11:15 a.m. and will be at Notre Dame High School, from 1 to 3 p.m.

The program will support the pro-life position by presenting scientific facts about development in the womb, what abortion is, and what the United States Supreme Court really said on abortion. There will be time for questions. Teachers, school counsellors, doctors, nurses, and clergymen will be in attendance.

Ann Landers

Burn treatment specified

Dear Ann Landers: As a surgeon who specializes in the treatment of burns I was interested in your reply to the young mother whose five-year-old had burned her hand on a hot pan. It seems Granny smeared the burn with butter, then sprinkled it with salt. The young mother wondered if it wouldn't have been better to put ice on it.

Ice was once recommended as first aid for burns, but now we know that applying ice to a burned area can have serious consequences. The danger is adding possible frostbite to already damaged tissue.

Please tell your readers the best way to treat a minor burn is to first flood the burn with cool (not ice) water, then wash with cool water and soap. As the burn heals, cleanse the area once or twice a day with soap and water; rinse thoroughly and pat dry.

Do NOT break blisters. They provide a sterile cover for the wound. When blisters break on their own, remove the loose skin and watch for signs of inflammation -- redness, pain, heat or swelling. If they occur, see your physician or go to the nearest hospital emergency room. -- Irving Feller, M.D., Director of U. of Mich. Burn Care Center

Dear Dr. Feller: Thank you for taking your valuable time to write to me. Today millions of people received advice from a top specialist without leaving their homes. And they won't get a bill!

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old boy with a problem who is 16. Her name is not Kathy but I will call her that. Actually the problem is the girl's mother.

Kathy works part-time and makes $40 a week. She hands over nearly every dime to her mother who is supposed to be saving it for her, but I suspect she may be spending it.

Kathy and I got pre-engaged a few months ago. Everything was fine until last week when I told Kathy I would like to progress from the pre-engaged state to the engaged state. Her mother blew her lid.

Don't you think a girl of 16 is old enough to make such a decision on her own? I think Kathy's mother is running her life and I told her so.

I am in the U.S. Air Force and plan to stay in it. I'm willing to wait two years before we get married. Kathy's family says it is not fair for a girl to be tied up to one guy while she is still in high school. What do you say? -- Peace Is Our Profession

Dear Peace: I say Kathy's family is right and I hope shelistens to them. If your love is real, it will withstand the test of time -- and dates with other young men, which I hope she will accept.

Kathy is like a worm in the jar of horseradish. Shethinks it's the sweetest place in the world because it's the only place she's ever been.

Confidential to Where Do You Stand?: I stand with you. Nothing develops character and respect for authority like a nice, healthy pat on the back -- if it's given often enough, hard enough and low enough.

Don't flunk your chemistry test.

Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

A five-pound stewing chicken yields about five cups cubed or chopped cooked chicken, plus about four cups broth. Use chicken in any dish calling for cooked chicken.

There are three methods to thaw frozen fruit. If time is no object, place on an open shelf in the refrigerator for six hours; or stand at room temperature 1 ½ hours. If it's a rush and the package is watertight, stand it 40 minutes in running cold water. Use at once.

Prayer

"A little child shall lead them." (Isaiah 11:6)

PRAYER: Father, we ask for a new hunger for a deeper fellowship with Your Son. Help us to walk in His light and continually feel His love, joy, and peace. Amen.

Scout events noted

Upcoming events for Sikeston neighborhood Girl Scouts were discussed March 5 and 6 during meetings of local Girl Scout leaders.

Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scout leaders met March 5 at the home of Mrs. Bill Lewis, 222 Kramer Drive. Mrs. Ketih Duncan, neighborhood chairman, presided.

Brownie leaders met March 6 at the home of neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Fred Tornton, 8 Beaird Drive.

Mrs. Doris Brown, director of Camp Latonka, focused on events planned this summer at the camp as she presented slides and commentary describing the facilities available. Four sessions being offered are scheduled June 15-26, June 30-July 10, July 13-24, and July 27-Aug. 7.

Leaders were reminded that the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council is sponsoring an outdoor environmental workshop April 4-6 at Camp Latonka. "Put it all Together" is the theme of the workshop which was set up to teach those interested about wild life and the environment. The workshop is open to anyone in the ninth grade and older.

Day Camp '75 has been scheduled June 2-6 at the Bill Lewis Farm near Avert. Day camping provides outdoor program opportunities by the day and offers a taste of camping near home. Art in the Out-of-doors is the theme for this year's program. Activities will include hike, cookouts, fold dancing, singing, games, handcrafts, nature study and conservation projects.

Bridging, the ceremony in which Brownies are bridged to junior troops, was also discussed.

Spring handbag styles are natural, relaxed

COLUMBIA--If a new costume might strain the budget, a wise purchase for update in wardrobes might be a new handbag, Mrs. Velda Rankin, extension clothing and textiles specialist for the University of Missouri-Columbia, notes.

Less expensive than a new ensemble, one of the many new looks in purses can give a lift to morale and give some of last year's clothes a new look, she says.

Handbag shapes for this spring include the tote, pouch or hobo, bucket and envelope. The terms well describe the silhousette which is natural and relaxed, Mrs. Rankin says.

She says the most exciting handbag news is in the after-five collection. "They include bags of leather or fabric, in silver or gold. They may be clutches or box-shaped. Many have antiqued frames, while others are meshes or beaded, which lends a nostalgic air. Why not search grandmother's trunk before spending money; you may find exactly what is in the store displays."

Scenic camping areas offer inexpensive pleasure

By WANDA ATCHLEY

With the economy faltering and gasoline prices nearly sky high, many of us will be seeking a vacation that will not cost a bundle and will be located close to home this year.

If you have a tight budget and a yen for camping, fishing or the general outdoors, pack your camping gear into your car and in less than one hour you can be in some of Missouri's most beautiful country storing up memories few hotel-bound tourists can match.

In the edge of Missouri's Ozark Mountains lies the scenic Current River country. This has been a favorite camping spot of my family for many years. One of our favorite spots is the area in and surrounding Big Spring State Park near Van Buren.

Here, you may camp in the Big Spring State Park, where fishing, swimming, hiking trails, boat rentals and amenities such as flush toilets and showers are available.

If you prefer a more secluded and rugged atmosphere, as we do, you will find several small wooded, primitive waterside sites where you can cook over an open fire and spend the night amidst towering trees and the only sound is that of the swift-flowing river.

With years of practice and today's modern camping equipment, we have learned to set up camp with a minimum of effort, leaving many long, lazy hours to spend fishing in the nearby river, hiking the rugged trails or just sitting around a camp fire in the evening.

Our campfire, built with wood gathered from the plentiful supply scattered beneath the trees, sometimes serves as our stove on the crisp mornings and, if we are lucky, will be put to use again in the evening to fry our day's catch.

There is always something for the entire family to do. The youngsters can roam freely without fear of traffic as the only vehicle you may see all day is your own. If the man of the house is a hunter, the area offers some of the best squirrel, deer and turkey hunting in the state. Another family treat is a float trip down the famed Current River.

Being a family of fishermen, we enjoy the excellent fishing the area provides. The March issue of The Conservationist Magazine states, "A man sitting around loafing is a bum but a man sitting around fishing is a philosopher." What a family of philosophers we are.

If you are a seasoned camper, you may already have everything you will need for such an outing. If not, a few dime store cooking utensils, an ice chest and a small tent should do the trick. The tent could even be borrowed from a friend.

For a few dollars and a tank of gasoline, Bootheel residents can enjoy a weekend or an entire week of vacation fun that some people spend hundreds of dollars and drive hundreds of miles to find. The best part is that this nature wonderland is located right here in Missouri, less than 100 miles away.

Kindergarten enrollment set

DEXTER — Enrollment for attendance in the Dexter Public School kindergarten program for the 1975-76 school term will be conducted Thursday and again on April 10.

Registration will be held in Central Elementary School on April 3, beginning at 1 p.m. and closing at 4 p.m. A second registration date will be on April 10, at Southwest Elementary School. Two sessions will be held at Southwest Elementary School. The first will begin at 1 p.m. and close at 4 p.m. An evening session beginning at 7:00 and closing at 9:00 will be available for parents who are unable to attend an afternoon session. The child may be enrolled at the school and at the time most convenient to the parent.

The child must be five years of age before Oct. 1, to be eligible to attend the kindergarten program in the Dexter School District.

The parent should produce proof of the child's age at the time of enrollment and show a record of immunizations.

All parents are urged to enroll eligible children on one of the above dates. In order to plan the most effective program for the students, assign teachers, plan bus routes, etc., it is necessary to know in advance how many children will attend.

Officers attend drug program

Six Sikeston police officers attended a two-day drug abuse program at the Ramada Inn this week, according to Police Chief Leon Culp.

The program held Monday and Tuesday was sponsored by the University of Missouri Law Enforcement Extension Program.

Offficers attending were Detectives Dan Hinton and Sgt. Jack Patterson, Patrolmen John Swinney and Robert Parr, Cpt. Marshall Moore and Sgt. Richard Couch.

Culp also said that officers Gale Hastings, Gary Brown and Parr had completed the three-week basic police course at the highway patrol acadamy in Jefferson City and that Patrolmen Charles Webb and Ron Teems are attending the course now.

Central band gets top rating

MORLEY--The Scott County Central High School band, directed by Terry Propst, received an overall rating of "1", or excellent, at the music contest held March 22 at Cape Girardeau. The "1" rating is the highest rating possible.

The band performed two prepared numbers, "Landmark Overture" and "El Capital March," and sight read an unfamiliar piece of music.

The contest was sponsored by the Missouri Activities Association.

Dexter cracks down on strays

DEXTER--A crackdown on stray unwanted dogs and dogs that have not been licensed and vaccinated will begin in Dexter April 1, according to Mayor Willis Conner and the Dexter police department.

After April 1 the various ordinances of the city regarding dogs will be "fully enforced", Police Chief Ken Tippen said.

Unlicensed, unwanted dogs will be picked up and held at the city pound for four days--96 hours--and, if no one calls for them or picks them up, the dogs will be destroyed.

Also, owners of "wanted" dogs will be directed to obtain city licenses for their dogs. Before a dog license can be issued, the dog must be vaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian.

The Police chief said the entire police force would be involved in the crackdown and off-duty policemen would go "door to door" in the city seeking unwanted stray dogs and informing dog owners that their animals must be licensed and vaccinated.

"We have many stray unwanted dogs in the community and we want to eliminate this health hazard," Conner told the department.

The law requires that all dogs be licensed, that they wear the licnse on their collar at all times, and before any license can be issued a vaccination report must be secured from a veterinarian, they pointed out.

Any local veterinarian is qualified to give the vaccination, and, after the vaccination is made, a dog license can be secured at the city hall.

Scenic camping areas offer inexpensive pleasure

By WANDA ATCHLEY

With the economy faltering and gasoline prices nearly sky high, many of us will be seeking a vacation that will not cost a bundle and will be located close to home this year.

If you have a tight budget and a yen for camping, fishing or the general outdoors, pack your camping gear into your car and in less than one hour you can be in some of Missouri's most beautiful country storing up memories few hotel-bound tourists can match.

In the edge of Missouri's Ozark Mountains lies the scenic Current River country. This has been a favorite camping spot of my family for many years. One of our favorite spots is the area in and surrounding Big Spring State Park near Van Buren.

Here, you may camp in the Big Spring State Park, where fishing, swimming, hiking trails, boat rentals and amenities such as flush toilets and showers are available.

If you prefer a more secluded and rugged atmosphere, as we do, you will find several small wooded, primitive waterside sites where you can cook over an open fire and spend the night amidst towering trees and the only sound is that of the swift-flowing river.

With years of practice and today's modern camping equipment, we have learned to set up camp with a minimum of effort, leaving many long, lazy hours to spend fishing in the nearby river, hiking the rugged trails or just sitting around a camp fire in the evening.

Our campfire, built with wood gathered from the plentiful supply scattered beneath the trees, sometimes serves as our stove on the crisp mornings and, if we are lucky, will be put to use again in the evening to fry our day's catch.

There is always something for the entire family to do. The youngsters can roam freely without fear of traffic as the only vehicle you may see all day is your own. If the man of the house is a hunter, the area offers some of the best squirrel, deer and turkey hunting in the state. Another family treat is a float trip down the famed Current River.

Being a family of fishermen, we enjoy the excellent fishing the area provides. The March issue of The Conservationist Magazine states, "A man sitting around loafing is a bum but a man sitting around fishing is a philosopher." What a family of philosophers we are.

If you are a seasoned camper, you may already have everything you will need for such an outing. If not, a few dime store cooking utensils, an ice chest and a small tent should do the trick. The tent could even be borrowed from a friend.

For a few dollars and a tank of gasoline, Bootheel residents can enjoy a weekend or an entire week of vacation fun that some people spend hundreds of dollars and drive hundreds of miles to find. The best part is that this nature wonderland is located right here in Missouri, less than 100 miles away.

Dexter cracks down on strays

DEXTER--A crackdown on stray unwanted dogs and dogs that have not been licensed and vaccinated will begin in Dexter April 1, according to Mayor Willis Conner and the Dexter police department.

After April 1 the various ordinances of the city regarding dogs will be "fully enforced", Police Chief Ken Tippen said.

Unlicensed, unwanted dogs will be picked up and held at the city pound for four days--96 hours--and, if no one calls for them or picks them up, the dogs will be destroyed.

Also, owners of "wanted" dogs will be directed to obtain city licenses for their dogs. Before a dog license can be issued, the dog must be vaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian.

The Police chief said the entire police force would be involved in the crackdown and off-duty policemen would go "door to door" in the city seeking unwanted stray dogs and informing dog owners that their animals must be licensed and vaccinated.

"We have many stray unwanted dogs in the community and we want to eliminate this health hazard," Conner told the department.

The law requires that all dogs be licensed, that they wear the licnse on their collar at all times, and before any license can be issued a vaccination report must be secured from a veterinarian, they pointed out.

Any local veterinarian is qualified to give the vaccination, and, after the vaccination is made, a dog license can be secured at the city hall.

Kindergarten enrollment set

DEXTER — Enrollment for attendance in the Dexter Public School kindergarten program for the 1975-76 school term will be conducted Thursday and again on April 10.

Registration will be held in Central Elementary School on April 3, beginning at 1 p.m. and closing at 4 p.m. A second registration date will be on April 10, at Southwest Elementary School. Two sessions will be held at Southwest Elementary School. The first will begin at 1 p.m. and close at 4 p.m. An evening session beginning at 7:00 and closing at 9:00 will be available for parents who are unable to attend an afternoon session. The child may be enrolled at the school and at the time most convenient to the parent.

The child must be five years of age before Oct. 1, to be eligible to attend the kindergarten program in the Dexter School District.

The parent should produce proof of the child's age at the time of enrollment and show a record of immunizations.

All parents are urged to enroll eligible children on one of the above dates. In order to plan the most effective program for the students, assign teachers, plan bus routes, etc., it is necessary to know in advance how many children will attend.

Officers attend drug program

Six Sikeston police officers attended a two-day drug abuse program at the Ramada Inn this week, according to Police Chief Leon Culp.

The program held Monday and Tuesday was sponsored by the University of Missouri Law Enforcement Extension Program.

Offficers attending were Detectives Dan Hinton and Sgt. Jack Patterson, Patrolmen John Swinney and Robert Parr, Cpt. Marshall Moore and Sgt. Richard Couch.

Culp also said that officers Gale Hastings, Gary Brown and Parr had completed the three-week basic police course at the highway patrol acadamy in Jefferson City and that Patrolmen Charles Webb and Ron Teems are attending the course now.

Central band gets top rating

MORLEY--The Scott County Central High School band, directed by Terry Propst, received an overall rating of "1", or excellent, at the music contest held March 22 at Cape Girardeau. The "1" rating is the highest rating possible.

The band performed two prepared numbers, "Landmark Overture" and "El Capital March," and sight read an unfamiliar piece of music.

The contest was sponsored by the Missouri Activities Association.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Jean Garner, who died Feb. 6 and was a Sikeston resident. During the late 1920s Garner was employed by a shoe company as a representative for them in the Orient. On one of the many places he visited in his five-year stay in that area, he observed and photographed the Good Friday ritual, which according to history, was supposed to have ceased after 1414.

By JEAN GARNER

Good Friday, the day Christian cultures commemorate the crucification of Jesus, has changed in the way it has been observed through the centuries, but a ritual that history says ceased to be practiced after 1414 was recorded by Jean Garner.

The ritual, performed exactly as it was in 1414, on the Phillipine Islands, does not now receive the approval of any religous organization now in existence on the islands. It is observed, however, with all the solemnity and reverence of religious fanaticism.

On Good Friday the penitents congregate along the beach far from the eyes of the curious and skeptical to do penance and seek forgiveness for the transgressions of the past year.

To begin the ritual the penitent strips to the waist and has a crown of thorns placed upon the brow. A semi-blinded covers the eyes and the lower limbs are corded to retard the flow of blood.

Several pieces of wood slightly larger and longer than a pencil are attached to the end of a cord and the flagelant is prepared and the March of the Flagenlant begins.

Swinging to and fro, the penitent beats himself across the back and shoulders until his body is ready for the atoning knife. This nknife is made like an old fashioned hair brush, only instead of bristles it has nine pieces of glass set edgewise in guttapercha (a rubberlike substance formed by the juice of certain Malay trees) and protruding about one quarter of an inch.

Stooping over, the flagelant is cut with the knife until the blood gushes out. Then begins anew the ordeal of penance until he falls exhausted. When lying exhausted on the ground an attendant with a thong of leather made from a carabao or water buffalo, prods and lashes the weary flaglant to renew the journey.

Finally, when the beating, gashing and stoppage of blood circulation have taken their toll, the flagelant falls prostrate.

The cords are taken off and wounds are bathed in warm salt water from the Pacific Ocean. Thus the ceremony ends and the faglelant begins a new year absolved of all previous sin.

Penitents prepare for ancient ritual

Once a year on Good Friday penitents gathered on a secluded beach in the Phillipines Islands, stripped to the waist, were bound with cord about the lower limbs and had acrown of thorns placed upon their brow in preparation for the "March of the Flagelant".

Beating spurs journey renewal

When a subject of the march falls exhausted from the ordeal a by-stander beats him to encourage him to renew his journey.

Cords whip flagelants

Flagelants swing to and fro beating themselves across the back with stripes of wood attached to cords that whip and pierce as they run.

Penitent falls from exhaustion

At the completion of the course, at left when the penitent has beaten himself insensible, he falls prostrate to emulate the suffering of Jesus and to gain forgiveness for sin.

Penitent is cut with knife

Another step in the atonment for the previous year's sins is performed by the penitent by letting himself be cut by a knife made of nine pieces of glass protruding from a brushlike instrument.

Add chopped walnuts and raisins to grated cheddar cheese with a little mayonnaise and use as a filling for sandwiches made from whole wheat bread.

CAN WE AFFORD THE FUTURE?

My eight previous columns have discussed some of the basic concepts and current issues that dominate economic policy today. As serious as our current situation is, however, we should not lose sight of the future. Our economic health in the 1980s may well depend on policies we set in motion this year. I plan to discuss some of these long-range issues in this and future columns.

Over the last 30 years, the American economy has shown an unprecedented ability to produce goods and services of all kinds. Despite inflation and occasional recessions, living standards have risen almost continuously. At the same time, there has been sufficient savings and investment to increase and improve factories and equipment, and to meet other capital needs of individuals - - schools, highways, dams, and bridges.

Capital Investment

But we still face a tremendous need for capital investment. The new energy situation, pollution controls, mass transit, and housing will put heavy demands on the investment sector of our economy. Some people have added up all the capital needs for the next several years, and have concluded, as one writer put it, "we may not be able to afford the future." If this is in fact the case, it would mean several things: high interest rates, increased taxes, and a scaling down of social capital improvement in such areas as housing and pollution control.

But there are facts on the other side as well. In a growing economy our ability to produce and to save will grow by 50 per cent in a decade. And while new capital needs have appeared, existing requirements in some areas are declining:

Rockefeller meets with Anwar-Sadat

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller had a meeting here today with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and said it was "useful."

He also met with Saudi Arabia's new monarch, King Khaled, and Crown Prince Fahd and said later he had received assurances from them that the Saudi government would continue its efforts to expand cooperation with the United States.

Rockefeller then left for home after a visit to pay U.S. respects to King Faisal, the staunch friend of Americans, who was assassinated on Tuesday.

In an airport news conference, Rockefeller declined to give details of his meeting with Sadat, also here to present condolences to the new Saudi leadership.

The vice president said only that the Egyptian leader expressed his dedication to finding a rapid solution to the Middle East problem.

A steamboat service established by Cornelius Vanderbilt between Manhattan and Staten Island in New York became known as the Staten Island ferry in the 1850s. Boats contained bars and lunch counters liberally supplied with biscuits, sausages, dried beef and citrus fruits.

Taxpayers would receive rebates within 45 days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers would begin receiving tax rebate checks within 45 days after tax rebate legislation is signed into law, an Internal Revenue Service spokesman says. President Ford has not indicated whether he will approve the measure.

Thus, if the President should sign tax rebate legislation on April 1, the first of the 60 million rebate checks could be sent as early as May 15. All would be sent by June 30.

Congress late Wednesday approved a $24.8-billion antirecession tax cut package that includes $8.1 billion in rebates. The rebates amount to 10 per cent of 1974 taxes up to a maximum of $200. The entire bill still is subject to approval by President Ford.

Under the plan, taxpayers would not have to file any special application for their rebates.

People who filed their taxes early probably will get the first rebates, but the exact order of how they will be sent has not yet been worked out, according to the IRS.

Taxpayers who have delayed in paying their taxes and who are entitled to refunds could get a single check containing both the refund and the rebate, the spokesman said.

Even though the final tax rebate bill is not yet law, the IRS has been at work for some time in planning how the rebates will be made.

"Basically, it's a computer job," the IRS spokesman said. "We just have to prepare the program for the computer." As a result, he added, there would not be any special demands placed on IRS personnel.

The IRS will determine how much money is due each taxpayer and will notify regional disbursing centers of the Treasury Department, which will handle the actual preparation and mailing of the rebate checks. This is the same procedure for regular tax refund payments.

The IRS says taxpayers are required to pay their 1974 taxes by the April 15. Any rebates approved by Congress and the President will be sent later.

Those taxpayers entitled to regular refunds are being sent their refunds, the IRS said.

A spokesman said Wednesday the pace of tax returns filed has been running ahead of the pace for 1973.

He said the IRS has received about 50.6 million returns through March 21, compared with 47.6 million at the same time last year.

Of the returns received, the IRS had processed 38.9 million returns by March 21 and mailed out 32.5 million refunds totaling $12.4 billion. The average refund check has been $382, up from an average $363 at the same time last year.

With the sewer and the water improvements, he said the town would grow more quickly, executive director of the Bootheel Regonal Planning Commission, Phil Shelton said Miner is located in an areadesignated as a growth center, but has never received any federal funds under the growth center program.

The town is growing rapidly, he said, expecially commercially, and more than 500 people work in the town.

Wheeler said Miner can put the money to good use, unlike many towns which seem to waste their funds.

"In five years this will be the EDA's sweetest project," he said.

Rockefeller meets with Anwar-Sadat

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller had a meeting here today with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and said it was "useful."

He also met with Saudi Arabia's new monarch, King Khaled, and Crown Prince Fahd and said later he had received assurances from them that the Saudi government would continue its efforts to expand cooperation with the United States.

Rockefeller then left for home after a visit to pay U.S. respects to King Faisal, the staunch friend of Americans, who was assassinated on Tuesday.

In an airport news conference, Rockefeller declined to give details of his meeting with Sadat, also here to present condolences to the new Saudi leadership.

The vice president said only that the Egyptian leader expressed his dedication to finding a rapid solution to the Middle East problem.

A steamboat service established by Cornelius Vanderbilt between Manhattan and Staten Island in New York became known as the Staten Island ferry in the 1850s. Boats contained bars and lunch counters liberally supplied with biscuits, sausages, dried beef and citrus fruits.

Taxpayers would receive rebates within 45 days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers would begin receiving tax rebate checks within 45 days after tax rebate legislation is signed into law, an Internal Revenue Service spokesman says. President Ford has not indicated whether he will approve the measure.

Thus, if the President should sign tax rebate legislation on April 1, the first of the 60 million rebate checks could be sent as early as May 15. All would be sent by June 30.

Congress late Wednesday approved a $24.8-billion antirecession tax cut package that includes $8.1 billion in rebates. The rebates amount to 10 per cent of 1974 taxes up to a maximum of $200. The entire bill still is subject to approval by President Ford.

Under the plan, taxpayers would not have to file any special application for their rebates.

People who filed their taxes early probably will get the first rebates, but the exact order of how they will be sent has not yet been worked out, according to the IRS.

Taxpayers who have delayed in paying their taxes and who are entitled to refunds could get a single check containing both the refund and the rebate, the spokesman said.

Even though the final tax rebate bill is not yet law, the IRS has been at work for some time in planning how the rebates will be made.

"Basically, it's a computer job," the IRS spokesman said. "We just have to prepare the program for the computer." As a result, he added, there would not be any special demands placed on IRS personnel.

The IRS will determine how much money is due each taxpayer and will notify regional disbursing centers of the Treasury Department, which will handle the actual preparation and mailing of the rebate checks. This is the same procedure for regular tax refund payments.

The IRS says taxpayers are required to pay their 1974 taxes by the April 15. Any rebates approved by Congress and the President will be sent later.

Those taxpayers entitled to regular refunds are being sent their refunds, the IRS said.

A spokesman said Wednesday the pace of tax returns filed has been running ahead of the pace for 1973.

He said the IRS has received about 50.6 million returns through March 21, compared with 47.6 million at the same time last year.

Of the returns received, the IRS had processed 38.9 million returns by March 21 and mailed out 32.5 million refunds totaling $12.4 billion. The average refund check has been $382, up from an average $363 at the same time last year.

Prefontaine bombs nationalized sports

DENVER (AP) — "To hell with love of country," says Steve Prefontaine, America's best amateur distance runner. "I compete for myself."

Prefontaine said he's so fed up with the treatment of American athletes that he'd change his citizenship tomorrow if given the chance. He described himself as an "internationalist."

"People say I should be running for a gold medal for the old red, white and blue and all that bull, but it's not gonna be that way," Prefontaine said in an interview.

"I'm the one who has made all the sacrifices. Those are MY American records, not the country's."

The 1974 graduate of the University of Oregon was sounding off about the plight of amateur athletes in the United States, who he said are at a financial disadvantage to those in the rest of the world.

Prefontaine has run the distances between 3,000 and 10,000 meters faster than any other American. He just missed a bronze medal in the 1972 Olympic Games, despite being spiked and shoved around during the race.

He's been training in Colorado for a month, considering whether to compete for the United States in the 1976 Olympics at Montreal. He said it's a tough decision because of the financial beating American Olympians have to take.

"I'll tell you, if I decide to compete at Montreal, to make all the sacrifices necessary, I'll be a poor man. If you're not a millionarie, there's no way," said Prefontaine, who's been in trouble with the Amateur Athletic Union before over its regulations dealing with meets in which he would represent the United States.

If he sounds bitter, he insists he's not.

"Not bitter, outraged," Prefontaine said. "American athletes, especially distance runners, are at a big disadvantage against the rest of the world. We're expected to live by all the rules, like not being able to coach, but still train and make our own living."

Right now, Prefontaine is representing a sports supply company, but he's opening a bar and restaurant in his home town, Eugene, Ore.

"Being a success in business, making some money, is the most important aspect of my life now," he said.

Then what about professional track?

Prefontaine said he's had good offers from the International Track Association, "but I don't think they can offer me the kind of challenge I need to get ahead."

Captains chosen

Southwest Missouri State University senior all conference infielders Bobby McCulloch, Jr., and Rod Towe have been elected baseball co-captains for the 1975 season.

McCulloch, a second baseman from North Pemiscot high school, and Towe, a shortstop from Nixa, were selected by their teammates Tuesday. Towe has earned two varsity letters while McCulloch gained his first last year after transferring from Three Rivers Junior College.

Last season, McCulloch gained all-conference first team selection and was named to the Missouri Sportswriters and Sportcasters all-state collegiate team. He hit .343 with 37 hits and 29 runs scored as the SMS leadoff man.

Towe was an all league second team pick who hit .369 nand had a .619 slugging percentage with four homers and 25 runs batted in.

Roxie Rice, sports drug girl, is fined

ST. LOUIS (AP) — For Roxie Ann Rice, who rocked the sports world earlier this year with a strange tale of drug peddling among professional athletes, it was a definite comedown.

Miss Rice, whose story caused a nation-wide investigation and numerous denials by athletes before it was officially discounted, was fined $50, assessed $23.50 in court costs and sentenced to one year's probation Wednesday for defrauding an innkeeper.

The 19-year-old Miss Rice had pleaded guilty to using a credit card belonging to Washington Redskins defensive back Ken Houston to pay a motel bill.

Miss Rice, who was arrested on the charge Jan. 6, later told police she had posed as a medical researcher from Ghana to provide drugs to members of various National Football League and American Basketball Association teams.

Letters to the Editor

Ron Jaynes Sports Editor:

Sir:

I do not feel that Dutch Meyer is an outstanding referee. Most Charleston fans don't either. I have missed only three Bluejay games this year and have been a basketball fan for 30 years.

The better referees are the kind that you seldom notice. This is not Mr. Meyers style. I hope I never see another game he referees.

John E. Burle
Charleston, Mo.

P.S. I don't feel this way about any other referee.

March 20, 1975

Dear Sir:

We would like to voice our opposition to, and dismay at, the bill proposed by Senator Payne that would ban handguns in our state. We feel this law would violate our constitutional rights and would only punish the law-abiding citizen, as the criminal element is not going to feel compelled to give up his guns.

We feel further, that the problem lies with our liberal courts, who seem unwilling to prosecute to the full letter of the law. Any minor technicality seems to be enough to set the criminal free. The criminal feels safe because he knows that if he is caught, his sentence is sure is to be light.

Thank you for you time and attention.

A concerned citizen,
Sam Parmenter

"I'm the one who has made all the sacrifices. Those are MY American records, not the country's."

The 1974 graduate of the University of Oregon was sounding off about the plight of amateur athletes in the United States, who he said are at a financial disadvantage to those in the rest of the world.

Prefontaine has run the distances between 3,000 and 10,000 meters faster than any other American. He just missed a bronze medal in the 1972 Olympic Games, despite being spiked and shoved around during the race.

He's been training in Colorado for a month, considering whether to compete for the United States in the 1976 Olympics at Montreal. He said it's a tough decision because of the financial beating American Olympians have to take.

"I'll tell you, if I decide to compete at Montreal, to make all the sacrifices necessary, I'll be a poor man. If you're not a millionarie, there's no way," said Prefontaine, who's been in trouble with the Amateur Athletic Union before over its regulations dealing with meets in which he would represent the United States.

If he sounds bitter, he insists he's not.

"Not bitter, outraged," Prefontaine said. "American athletes, especially distance runners, are at a big disadvantage against the rest of the world. We're expected to live by all the rules, like not being able to coach, but still train and make our own living."

Right now, Prefontaine is representing a sports supply company, but he's opening a bar and restaurant in his home town, Eugene, Ore.

"Being a success in business, making some money, is the most important aspect of my life now," he said.

Then what about professional track?

Prefontaine said he's had good offers from the International Track Association, "but I don't think they can offer me the kind of challenge I need to get ahead."

Captains chosen

Southwest Missouri State University senior all conference infielders Bobby McCulloch, Jr., and Rod Towe have been elected baseball co-captains for the 1975 season.

McCulloch, a second baseman from North Pemiscot high school, and Towe, a shortstop from Nixa, were selected by their teammates Tuesday. Towe has earned two varsity letters while McCulloch gained his first last year after transferring from Three Rivers Junior College.

Last season, McCulloch gained all-conference first team selection and was named to the Missouri Sportswriters and Sportcasters all-state collegiate team. He hit .343 with 37 hits and 29 runs scored as the SMS leadoff man.

Towe was an all league second team pick who hit .369 nand had a .619 slugging percentage with four homers and 25 runs batted in.

Roxie Rice, sports drug girl, is fined

ST. LOUIS (AP) — For Roxie Ann Rice, who rocked the sports world earlier this year with a strange tale of drug peddling among professional athletes, it was a definite comedown.

Miss Rice, whose story caused a nation-wide investigation and numerous denials by athletes before it was officially discounted, was fined $50, assessed $23.50 in court costs and sentenced to one year's probation Wednesday for defrauding an innkeeper.

The 19-year-old Miss Rice had pleaded guilty to using a credit card belonging to Washington Redskins defensive back Ken Houston to pay a motel bill.

Miss Rice, who was arrested on the charge Jan. 6, later told police she had posed as a medical researcher from Ghana to provide drugs to members of various National Football League and American Basketball Association teams.

Ron Jaynes Sports Editor:

Sir:

I do not feel that Dutch Meyer is an outstanding referee. Most Charleston fans don't either. I have missed only three Bluejay games this year and have been a basketball fan for 30 years.

The better referees are the kind that you seldom notice. This is not Mr. Meyers style. I hope I never see another game he referees.

John E. Burle
Charleston, Mo.

P.S. I don't feel this way about any other referee.

Dear Sir:

We would like to voice our opposition to, and dismay at, the bill proposed by Senator Payne that would ban handguns in our state. We feel this law would violate our constitutional rights and would only punish the law-abiding citizen, as the criminal element is not going to feel compelled to give up his guns.

We feel further, that the problem lies with our liberal courts, who seem unwilling to prosecute to the full letter of the law. Any minor technicality seems to be enough to set the criminal free. The criminal feels safe because he knows that if he is caught, his sentence is sure is to be light.

Thank you for you time and attention.

A concerned citizen,
Sam Parmenter

By the time you begin reading this column, I hopefully will be on my way with my family (the new Mrs. Jaynes, my stepson--Timmy and daughters--Ramona and Ronda)toward the sunshine state with planned visits at the Cardinals and Royals baseball camps and a day long venture at Disneyworld..

I guess you could say that we are incorporating a business venture with a vacation and honeymoon..if that's possible. Anyway, that's the way it is.

It will surely be an experience---to say the least.

The trip will be made in a 25 foot Chieftain Winnebago motor home. Which should be a great experience. I'll tell you more about the trip upon my return.

Filling in for this vacationing writer will be our office colleague--Frank Burrell, a former sports editor in his own right, who has been very influential during the more than nine years this scribe has been associated with the sports grind.

So, keep playing and keeping us informed. See ya when we return. GOOD LUCK.

I got a letter some time back from Danny Freeman wanting some information on the summer softball league in Sikeston--particurlarly slow pitch.

Although we're familiar with the fast pitch league--we haven't heard much about the slow pitch--if any in the area.

If anyone knows of such a league, he'd appreciate knowing of it..and we would too. Replies can be sent to Danny Freeman at 953 Cambridge,; Sikeston, Mo. 63801, or call 471-6980 for the Daly Standard sports department.

One of the most beautiful lakes in the United States, Table Rock Lake, located near Shell Knob, Mo., will be the site of the 1975 Junior -Senior National Fishing championship to be held on Father's Day, June 15th.

The tournament features a 200 field limit of father-son or father-daughter teams paying the entry fee per team on a first to enter, first to fish basis.

More than $1,500 will go to the winning pair and the next 19 places will also receive cash on the basis of 200 entries.

Bob Reed, president of North American Sportsman's Society, said, "I wouldn't be surprised if a father-daughter pair wins this tournament. There are some real fine young gals around the country who really know how to catch largemouth bass."

There is no minimum age limit on the younger partner, but 18 is the maximum age limit for that halfof the team.

Early entry fees may be sent to NASS headquarters at P.O. box 22, West Fork, Ark. 72774. Call 501-839-2988 or additional information.

Campbell Point Boat Dock will serve as tournament headquarters for this national event.

To end our column until we return in two weeks, I'd like to pass endorsement of Hoyte Butler for the New Madrid county school board.

Having been a resiedent of New Madrid county and a personal friend of Hoyte for years, I can honestly say that he has done more for the entire county--not just Parma.

An avid sports fan, Hoyte has been instrumental in providing the best in physical education facilities in all the schools.

He is a very capable man, which is proven by his years of service on the board.

This man has given freely out of his own pocket to support the Parma summer baseball program. He was very influential in obtaining the new lighting fixtures and improvements at the school park where the city summer league progam is conducted.

Although I've moved out of the county and from Parma, I still think that I must express my views on matters concerning the county and city of Parma because my beautiful daughters still live there.

I've never given my endorsement of any candidate local--state or national--but I felt that with the faction working against this dedicated farmer...I must let my thoughts be known.

Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo.

Dear Mr. Editor,

It is a fact that there are few newspapers today where the news is not slanted or toned down to suit some Jelly Bean Politician or some Editor who can not accept realities. But the Standard has kept its Trade Mark, by keeping the standard of hard facts, on the page, not in the waste basket as is most news media's today, so I don't feel my time and efforts are wasted when I desire to set an important issue before the people. So let us hope that The Standard will always maintain the high standard which has made it one of, if not the best newspaper in the nation. O.K. now a week ago Mondsay last, I saw Patty Hearst and another young lady about her age together with a white man and a black man on the main tourist street in Saltillo Beach, Mexico, where I enjoyed a Pleasant vacation. Patty had her hair do in a beautiful fashion, it would be hard to recognize her with her change of appearance but I recognized her they were gettin tinto their car which bore a Georgia License plate and now, a much more important, subject. God said unto whom much is given much is expected in return. There is no question as to the outpouring of his blessings on this country. But the question is what has this country given him in return? Answer, the most sinful wicked nation on earth today, men wearing long hair, which God has said is anabomination, men engaging in sexual actions with other men which God has condemned. Almost all of the country transgressing the Sabbath, which God commanded to keep Holy. I would like to repeat God said it is a sin for a man to wear his hair long, it is a sin for man to lay with man. It is a sin for a woman to lay with women and now, our multimouis laws instead of reducing crime, actually contribute to crime by literally forcing people to violate some law or other in our daily struggle to live. So in conclusion what can we say for this land for which a Great God has opened the Doors of Heaven and poured out the mountains of blessings and this country has in return thumbed its nose at the God of Heaven and earth.

Letters to the Editor

Editor 3-19-85
Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo.

Dear Mr. Editor,

It is a fact that there are few newspapers today where the news is not slanted or toned down to suit some Jelly Bean Politician or some Editor who can not accept realities. But the Standard has kept its Trade Mark, by keeping the standard of hard facts, on the page, not in the waste basket as is most news media's today, so I don't feel my time and efforts are wasted when I desire to set an important issue before the people. So let us hope that The Standard will always maintain the high standard which has made it one of, if not the best newspaper in the nation. O.K. now a week ago Mondsay last, I saw Patty Hearst and another young lady about her age together with a white man and a black man on the main tourist street in Saltillo Beach, Mexico, where I enjoyed a Pleasant vacation. Patty had her hair do in a beautiful fashion, it would be hard to recognize her with her change of appearance but I recognized her they were gettin tinto their car which bore a Georgia License plate and now, a much more important, subject. God said unto whom much is given much is expected in return. There is no question as to the outpouring of his blessings on this country. But the question is what has this country given him in return? Answer, the most sinful wicked nation on earth today, men wearing long hair, which God has said is anabomination, men engaging in sexual actions with other men which God has condemned. Almost all of the country transgressing the Sabbath, which God commanded to keep Holy. I would like to repeat God said it is a sin for a man to wear his hair long, it is a sin for man to lay with man. It is a sin for a woman to lay with women and now, our multimouis laws instead of reducing crime, actually contribute to crime by literally forcing people to violate some law or other in our daily struggle to live. So in conclusion what can we say for this land for which a Great God has opened the Doors of Heaven and poured out the mountains of blessings and this country has in return thumbed its nose at the God of Heaven and earth.

Celts, Bullets eye playoff advantage

By The Associated Press

Let the others scramble around in search of second place finishes or wild-card playoff berths. Boston and Washington are playing for higher stakes.

"We're a half game behind Boston in the win column now," said Washington Coach K.C. Jones after the Bullets dropped a 94-91 decision to Buffalo Wednesday night. "But we're still in good shape. We play once more in Boston and they think they can do it to us and take the best over-all record.

"Strangely enough we have the same idea."

The Bullets and the Celtics have long since wrapped up first place in their respective divisions and are now trying to post the best record in the league. Whichever team finishes with the best mark gets the home court advantage in the playoffs and lots of bonus money—$40,000 for topping the league and another $40,000 for leading the conference.

"I think we have a tougher schedule than they do from here on in," said Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn. "We'll worry about playing them when we get to them."

Boston is 56-21 with five games left. Washington is 55-21 with six games left. They meet April 4th in Boston.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Detroit beat Portland 110-107, New York rocked Philadelphia 128-98 and Seattle dumped Los Angeles 110-89.

Bob McAdoo proved the undoing of the Bullets. The big Buffalo center poured in 34 points, 12 of them in the final period. Randy Smith got the decisive basket for the Braves, a jump shot with 25 seconds left.

Phil Chenier topped Washington with 21 points.

Celtics 113, Jazz 100

Jo Jo White scored 23 points and Dave Cowens had 20 to lead Boston.

Pistons 110, Blazers 107

Dave Bing netted 28 points and Curtis Rowe added a season-high 26 as Detroit closed in on the Western Conference wild card playoff berth.

Knicks 128, 76ers 98

Backcourt mates Earl Monroe and [illegible] matched 25 each as New York won easily.

Sonics 110, Lakers 89

Archie Clark had 24 points and Spencer Haywood and Tom Burleson 23 each for Seattle.

Hunt cut from Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ron Hunt is parting ways with the St. Louis Cardinals, but just like those baseballs that have carromed off his body over the years, he hopes to bounce back.

"I very definitely was surprised," the 34-year-old infielder said Wednesday after learning that the Cardinals had placed him on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

"But I guess one infielder had to go. Since that was the case, I'm grateful to the Cards for playing it straight with me and doing it now before I brought my wife down this weekend."

Hunt, who holds the major league record for being hit by pitches in a season (50) and career (243), said he'd like to continue playing, "but I won't go begging...that's not me."

"I think I've shown I can play second and third adequately," he added.

Hunt began his 12-year career with the New York Mets in 1963, joined the Los Angeles Dodgers four years later, was traded to the San Franc isco Giants in 1968 and went to the Montreal Expos in 1970. He was traded to St. Louis last season.

A member of the National League All-Star team in 1964 and '66, Hunt has a career batting average of .273.

Farmers band together

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Faced with rising production costs, a group of mid-Missouri farmers has banded together to withhold some acres from grain production to boost prices.

Sixty-six farmers in four central Missouri counties agreed last week to cut grain and soybean production by 10-20 per cent in an effort to prop up prices for those commodities.

"If we raise the same production of last year, we're going to have somewhere between a 20 and 30 per cent surplus this fall," says James L. Hickman, a member of the group who owns 630 grain-producing acres east of Fulton.

He said that in spite of last year's adverse weather conditions that destroyed 20 per cent of the state's crops, a grain surplus still exists this spring.

"We're going to have grain just running out of our ears," he said.

Nevertheless, Hickman says, the federal government urges farmers to plant all they can because "they want cheap food and big surpluses."

"They (politicians) are elected by the city vote and the labor vote and they're limited in what they can do for the farmer," he said.

Dr. Lamb

Vitamin B-6: can it hurt?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A friend of mine has been taking B-6 and Kelp tablets for about six months and has lost 20 pounds.

She maintains a well-balanced diet, but eats less than formerly and also exercises.

Is there any harm in taking B-6 every day for this length of time? She looks wonderful and says she feels fine.

DEAR READER — No, the B-6 and the Kelp won't hurt her, but they have nothing to do with her weight loss. The weight loss is a direct result of decreasing her calorie intake and increasing her daily use of calories by exercise.

Most people can lose weight if they will go on a proper diet and will exercise. It takes time, though. Your friend has spent six months doing it, not a few weeks.

The best way to lose unhealthy fat is to do it gradually to avoid vitamin deficiencies and loss of important body protein, including that in the muscles. Crash exercise or diet programs of any type are dangerous.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband was recently told his blood cholesterol was high and he should watch his diet. He has been told by a friend that he should drink wine with his meals to prevent hardening of the arteries or the fatty-cholesterol deposits.

He also states there are certain foods that will help dissolve the present build-up of fat and reverse the damage in his arteries. Will you please advise me if this information is true?

DEAR READER — Wine or any other alcoholic beverage will not prevent or reverse the fatty-cholesterol deposit process in the arteries unless a person uses so much that it begins to affect the liver. Trading liver disease for heart disease isn't much progress.

The truth is that wine at dinner may lead your husband to eat more than he should and actually contribute to his problem. Wine also adds to his calorie intake.

Yes, you can eat in such a way that it will help to reverse the changes in the arteries caused by fatty-cholesterol deposits. This isn't accomplished, though, by eating some particular food, but by avoiding eating a lot of rich, fatty foods. Your husband needs a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet and sufficient calorie restriction to eliminate any excess fat he may have or to prevent future development of fat.

A good study was done on Rhesus monkeys that showed that if they ate our usual rich diet they quickly developed disease of the arteries. When the rest of the group was put back on a low-calorie, low-fat monkey diet, the arterial changes reversed to normal.

You can't reverse the scarring and structural damage that has already occurred, but a lot can be done to reverse some of the changes.

Farmers band together

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Faced with rising production costs, a group of mid-Missouri farmers has banded together to withhold some acres from grain production to boost prices.

Sixty-six farmers in four central Missouri counties agreed last week to cut grain and soybean production by 10-20 per cent in an effort to prop up prices for those commodities.

"If we raise the same production of last year, we're going to have somewhere between a 20 and 30 per cent surplus this fall," says James L. Hickman, a member of the group who owns 630 grain-producing acres east of Fulton.

He said that in spite of last year's adverse weather conditions that destroyed 20 per cent of the state's crops, a grain surplus still exists this spring.

"We're going to have grain just running out of our ears," he said.

Nevertheless, Hickman says, the federal government urges farmers to plant all they can because "they want cheap food and big surpluses."

"They (politicians) are elected by the city vote and the labor vote and they're limited in what they can do for the farmer," he said.

Vitamin B-6: can it hurt?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A friend of mine has been taking B-6 and Kelp tablets for about six months and has lost 20 pounds.

She maintains a well-balanced diet, but eats less than formerly and also exercises.

Is there any harm in taking B-6 every day for this length of time? She looks wonderful and says she feels fine.

DEAR READER — No, the B-6 and the Kelp won't hurt her, but they have nothing to do with her weight loss. The weight loss is a direct result of decreasing her calorie intake and increasing her daily use of calories by exercise.

Most people can lose weight if they will go on a proper diet and will exercise. It takes time, though. Your friend has spent six months doing it, not a few weeks.

The best way to lose unhealthy fat is to do it gradually to avoid vitamin deficiencies and loss of important body protein, including that in the muscles. Crash exercise or diet programs of any type are dangerous.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband was recently told his blood cholesterol was high and he should watch his diet. He has been told by a friend that he should drink wine with his meals to prevent hardening of the arteries or the fatty-cholesterol deposits.

He also states there are certain foods that will help dissolve the present build-up of fat and reverse the damage in his arteries. Will you please advise me if this information is true?

DEAR READER — Wine or any other alcoholic beverage will not prevent or reverse the fatty-cholesterol deposit process in the arteries unless a person uses so much that it begins to affect the liver. Trading liver disease for heart disease isn't much progress.

The truth is that wine at dinner may lead your husband to eat more than he should and actually contribute to his problem. Wine also adds to his calorie intake.

Yes, you can eat in such a way that it will help to reverse the changes in the arteries caused by fatty-cholesterol deposits. This isn't accomplished, though, by eating some particular food, but by avoiding eating a lot of rich, fatty foods. Your husband needs a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet and sufficient calorie restriction to eliminate any excess fat he may have or to prevent future development of fat.

A good study was done on Rhesus monkeys that showed that if they ate our usual rich diet they quickly developed disease of the arteries. When the rest of the group was put back on a low-calorie, low-fat monkey diet, the arterial changes reversed to normal.

You can't reverse the scarring and structural damage that has already occurred, but a lot can be done to reverse some of the changes.
